

State of South Carolina

Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, it is estimated that 6.7 million people are currently living with chronic wounds, and the number is expected to grow steadily over the next decade; and

WHEREAS, more than 29 million people in the United States have diabetes, nearly 2 million of whom will develop a diabetic foot ulcer or other non-healing wound; and

WHEREAS, untreated chronic wounds can lead to a diminished quality of life and possible loss of limb; and

WHEREAS, increased awareness and education about chronic wounds and advanced wound care can benefit individuals affected currently and in the future.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Henry McMaster, Governor of the great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim June 5-9, 2017, as throughout the state and encourage all South Carolinians to help call attention to the importance of advanced wound care and its role in saving lives and limbs.
